INTRODUCING CENTAURI

One of the largest and brightest constellations, Centaurus is located in the southern sky and contains several very bright stars. Its notable stars include Alpha and Beta Centauri. These stars are used as “pointer stars” to help observers find other constellations.

For centuries scientists, artists and dreamers have gazed into the celestial skies, in their search for inspiration and knowledge; seeking answers on the origins of the universe and all its hidden mysteries.

‘Looking beyond the celestial parallels’

The latest commercial stock range, Centauri, draws inspiration from the diverse elements of the universe and the human fascination with its mysterious nature.

Centauri is a gateway into a scintillating collection of designs that transcend their surroundings with intensity, appealing depths of colours and complementing textures, creating stunning, functional and pragmatic surfaces.

The Centauri stock range is specifically designed for the Australian hospitality, gaming and leisure markets and will be available in 3.66m width in our 80% wool, 20% nylon blend, which provides the luxurious softness of wool (and all of wool's inherent fire resistant properties), combined with the stability of a small percentage of nylon.
